(KENNESAW, GA – May 20, 2020)

Lisa Campbell, candidate for the Georgia House of Representatives District 35, is proud to announce that she has been endorsed by Planned Parenthood Southeast Advocates (PPSEA). PPSEA educates and lobbies on behalf of women's health and works to elect candidates who support family planning and the full range of reproductive health care.

"I am honored to be endorsed by Planned Parenthood Southeast Advocates," Campbell said. "Equality in healthcare is a central component of my campaign. Not only will I oppose efforts to cut funding for Planned Parenthood health centers, I will support strengthening and expanding public health services and increasing public health funding in all communities as the cornerstone for economic prosperity. All women should have access to high quality and affordable screenings, exams, testing, treatment, medically accurate sexual health and family planning information, free or low cost birth control and abortion care. I promise to ensure that our government protects and provides equal access to healthcare and reproductive freedoms for all Georgians."

"Let's be clear --- reproductive rights and health are on the ballot in 2020", states Staci Fox, President & CEO of Planned Parenthood Southeast Advocates. "We are proud to stand with candidates throughout Georgia who have pledged to boldly protect communities who are hit the hardest by constant attacks on sexual and reproductive health care. The COVID19 crisis is highlighting the grave results of the inequities in our healthcare system and our endorsed candidates will play a pivotal role in improving access to care, expanding Medicaid, ensuring that all Georgians have the ability to make their own health care decisions without political interference."
